Best Employer Recognition

“This honour recognizes companies that have demonstrated superior management practices and that, according to their employees, have created an exceptional work environment.”

- BC Business Magazine, January 2003

“Across Canada, Tourism British Columbia is a leader demonstrating excellence in tourism industry destination management.”

- Judd Buchanan, Special Advisor on Tourism to the Prime Minister and Immediate Past-chair, Canadian Tourism Commission, speaking at the British Columbia Tourism Industry Conference, February 2003

HIGHLIGHTS 2002/03

In a year that saw the industry achieve 22.6 million visitors and $9.3 billion in revenue, Tourism British Columbia is proud of the many corporate accomplishments in the past fiscal year. Some notable achievements are:

- In support of the Vancouver 2010 Bid Corporation's international messaging, Tourism British Columbia published 250,000 copies of a special winter edition of British Columbia Magazine, showcasing all of British Columbia as a genuine world-class winter destination.
- The 2002 BC Escapes[®] program saw $70.3 million in direct visitor spending, from a total investment of $5.6 million. The campaign also received an RSVP Award of Merit from the Canadian Marketing Association.
- Tourism British Columbia was recognized as one of the Best Companies to Work For in British Columbia according to a survey conducted by Watson Wyatt Management Consultants. The results were published in the January 2003 issue of BC Business Magazine, where Tourism British Columbia ranked 12th in the top 25 companies in British Columbia.
- In the 2002 Stakeholder Survey conducted by Malatest and Associates, Tourism British Columbia achieved an overall stakeholder satisfaction rating of 3.8 out of 5.
- With strong support from targeted marketing programs, the Super, Natural British Columbia[®] Call Centre saw a decreased average call length while at the same time achieving an increase in average bookings from $207 to $217, representing an increase in revenue per minute from $6.70 to $7.48.
- Canada's West Marketplace[®] 2002, a partnership between Tourism British Columbia and Travel Alberta, saw a record number of 579 delegates last year. In addition, 100% of the buyers and 94% of the sellers rated the event as "good" or "very good".
- Travel Media Relations produced $203.6 million in unpaid media coverage for British Columbia worldwide.
- Delivery of the SuperHost[®] training program in Puerto Rico resulted in additional revenues of $41,500.

CHAIR'S MESSAGE

2002 was a year without historic trends, patterns or any sense of “normal” for the tourism industry. It was a year in which travel intentions would be difficult to gauge following the impacts of September 11, 2001.

I am pleased to say that the British Columbia tourism industry demonstrated remarkable resilience in the past year, as visitation returned to positive levels much sooner than expected.

The reasons for this are two-fold. First, British Columbia enjoys a diversity of tourism products and destinations unlike anywhere else in the world. This provided much-needed choice for consumers who were changing the way they made vacation decisions. Many who had traditionally flown to holiday destinations were now driving; many who would normally choose long-haul travel were now opting for closer-to-home itineraries. Tourism British Columbia continues to ensure programs align with these shifts in consumer behaviour.

Second, I believe the responsiveness to the new conditions was exemplary. With strong government support for Tourism British Columbia from the Ministry of Competition, Science and Enterprise, including a much-needed $750,000 incremental increase in funding announced in April 2003, the corporation was able to work with industry partners to utilize existing data and re-align marketing programs to target the best opportunities for building visitation in the short-term, without sacrificing long-term market development.

I am proud of the approach taken by Tourism British Columbia in these unusual times. In addition, I would like to extend thanks to my fellow Board members whose industry perspective was integrated into the decisions made by the corporation. The results of these efforts are summarized in this Annual Report.

Michael Duggan
Chair, Board of Directors

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The tourism industry in British Columbia came to crossroads in this past year, as we found ourselves recovering from the extraordinary impacts of 2001 and at the same time facing a year when the single biggest impact for tourism was yet to be made – the announcement of which country would host the 2010 Winter Olympic and Paralympic games.

Having achieved $9.3 billion in tourism revenue and 22.6 million visitors in 2002, the industry can take comfort that in the face of uncertain times, the Super, Natural British Columbia destination retains strong appeal for consumers in all our key markets.

In fact, despite continued competition from jurisdictions throughout the world, British Columbia's most significant challenges came from global conditions such as weak international economies and financially unstable air carriers. While these conditions are unlikely to change soon, we are positioned with diverse product offerings and varied markets.

I believe that the 2010 Winter Games will further demonstrate the sophistication of the British Columbia tourism industry. I am very impressed with the interest that has already begun in communities throughout the province, as well as with our partner tourism marketing organizations. Tourism British Columbia is working hard to ensure our organization fulfils our mandated role in helping deliver the benefits associated with tourism.

In responding to increased global competitiveness, we have to be both strategic and disciplined in maximizing all opportunities, including marketing, product development, human resource development and infrastructure. The integration of these areas requires proactiveness and strong partnerships, both of which are well-evidenced already throughout the industry.

I would like to offer my personal thanks to the Ministry of Competition, Science and Enterprise, our industry partners, our Board and our staff for ensuring our industry is well-positioned to maximize the opportunities that lie ahead.

ORGANIZATION OVERVIEW

Tourism British Columbia is a Crown corporation that operates under the direction of an industry-led Board of Directors and is responsible for marketing the Super, Natural British Columbia[®] brand to the world.

Tourism British Columbia's vision is to be a recognized world leader in tourism destination management. The organization works cooperatively with industry partners to promote the development and growth of British Columbia's tourism industry and ensure its long-term success. This is done with significant support of several government agencies including the Ministry of Competition, Science and Enterprise, the Ministry of Sustainable Resource Management and Land and Water British Columbia. Tourism British Columbia's mission is to exceed our customers' expectations by providing leadership and programs that ensure the success of the British Columbia tourism industry, resulting in a quality visitor experience.

Tourism British Columbia's Corporate Values are:

Integrity – what we bring as individuals;

Enthusiasm – what we portray;

Teamwork – how we work together; and Progressive – what we strive for.

Tourism British Columbia is recognized as a leader in tourism marketing and development, working in partnership with the province's fast-growing tourism industry.

Tourism British Columbia was established as a Crown corporation when the Tourism British Columbia Act was passed by the British Columbia legislature in June 1997. Tourism British Columbia is structured to function as a professional marketing organization, with business units strategically focused across the consumer purchase cycle.

Tourism British Columbia's model of corporate governance is responsive to the needs of the industry. The Directors in the corporation are active participants in tourism, bringing the skills, knowledge and experience needed to support the industry's long-term development.

Funding is based on a percentage of the provincial Hotel Room Tax, with revenues increasing or decreasing with the tourism sector.

- Business Development - responsible for consumer, corporate and industry communications, as well as the development of new revenue-generating opportunities.

MEASURING PERFORMANCE

To ensure Tourism British Columbia continues to be responsive to the needs of the tourism industry, performance measures have been incorporated at three key levels: industry performance, corporate performance, and individual business unit performance in each of the organization's operating divisions.

Industry Performance

Industry performance is gauged by an extensive combination of indicators with particular focus on accommodation statistics such as room revenue, occupancy levels and average daily rates. In addition, Tourism British Columbia monitors visitation through customs entries, airport arrivals, cruise ship activity, ferry traffic, highway traffic and visitor party information gathered throughout the provincial Visitor Info Centre network.

Corporate Performance

Tourism British Columbia's corporate performance is measured through an annual Stakeholder Survey administered by a third-party professional research organization, involving feedback from over 400 randomly selected industry stakeholders each year. The corporation's performance target is to achieve a satisfaction level of 3.5 out of a maximum of five.

Business Unit Performance

In each of the corporation's core business functions, approved performance measures have been established relating to the specific activities, objectives and goals as defined in the annual business plan.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

Tourism Industry Performance

The calendar year 2002 saw British Columbia's tourism industry rebound from 2001, achieving $9.3 billion in province-wide revenues and 22.6 million overnight visitors. While it does not match the best year of $9.5 billion achieved in 2000, it was cause for cautious optimism, particularly when other indicators, such as tourism-related employment which reached 114,272 in 2001, are factored in.

Tourism British Columbia's Research Unit tracks a number of key indicators to capture a comprehensive picture of industry performance each year. The table below shows customs entries data from British Columbia's primary international markets. The percentage shown indicates the increase or decrease in activity over calendar year 2001.

Final statistics for 2002 show that overnight entries from the United States were up 3.7% for the year, with Asia Pacific up 2.3% and Europe down 11.4%. Overall, overnight customs entries from all international markets were up 1.9% over last year.

TOURISM BRITISH COLUMBIA CORPORATE PERFORMANCE

HIGHLIGHTS

Tourism British Columbia and the Vancouver 2010 Olympic and Paralympic Bid

Fiscal 2002/03 was a critical year in the Olympic Bid process, as efforts shifted from planning to international promotion and awareness. A key challenge was to reinforce in the minds of International Olympic Committee influencers that British Columbia is a quality winter destination.

Tourism British Columbia undertook several supporting activities, including encouraging the overseas offices to emphasize winter in discussions with travel trade operators and media. Most significantly, 250,000 copies of a special winter supplement of British Columbia Magazine that effectively conveyed the broader story of British Columbia's excellent winter products were published and strategically distributed.

Other activities included working with the Vancouver 2010 Bid Corporation through the Tourism Destination Working Group to identify and deliver key tourism promotional opportunities. Among the tactics was to bring 2010 to key tourism events such as the International Tourism Bourse (ITB) in Berlin, Rendez-vous Canada in Halifax and the annual Tourism Industry Association of Canada (TIAC) Conference in Charlottetown.

Tourism British Columbia also provided support to the "yes" campaign in the Vancouver plebiscite, through the sponsoring of a multi-media advertising campaign that focused on testimonials of people such as Jimmy Pattison, Wayne Gretzky and Catriona LeMay Doan.

In July 2002, Tourism British Columbia facilitated a meeting of Destination Marketing Organizations from Vancouver, Whistler, Richmond, Victoria and the Canadian Tourism Commission (CTC) to begin the process of long-term planning related to the 2010 opportunity. This came at the request of the Provincial Olympic Bid Secretariat which had challenged members of the Bid-related 2010 Tourism Destination Working Group to "maximize and accelerate the benefits for tourism that can result from successfully hosting the Olympic Games". Following this meeting, work has been undertaken in four strategic areas to ensure a fully integrated approach to the tourism opportunity. These areas are: marketing, industry development, infrastructure and human resource development. In addition, a Working Committee of the Tourism British Columbia board of directors was struck to provide input into the 2010 planning process.

A significant component of the strategy is to consult directly with communities throughout the province for input, as it is clear that the economic benefits proposed in the Bid can only be realized if all parts of the province see incremental activity.

This proactive approach by Tourism British Columbia, the Provincial Olympic Bid Secretariat and tourism industry partners in initiating a 2010 tourism strategy in 2002 is consistent with recommendations made in a report by the Auditor General on the Vancouver 2010 Bid proposal when he stated:

“...the economic impact scenarios with the biggest payoff will require an exemplary tourism marketing program both before and after the Games for the whole of British Columbia (in addition to the Games marketing being planned for by the Bid Corporation).”

- Wayne Streiloff, CA Auditor General, January 2003

Tourism British Columbia Named one of British Columbia’s Top Employers

Tourism British Columbia was recognized as one of the Best Companies to Work for in British Columbia according to a survey conducted by Watson Wyatt Management Consultants. The survey evaluates companies based on eight criteria: work environment, supervision, communication, management effectiveness, compensation, benefits, career development and training. The results were published in the January 2003 issue of BC Business Magazine where Tourism British Columbia ranked 12th in the top 25 companies in British Columbia.

Tourism British Columbia’s success comes from a commitment to support employees with a range of business-focused and family-responsive policies and programs. The company places an emphasis on performance achievement, recognizing strengths and opportunities, and actively promotes feedback at all levels of the corporation.

BUSINESS UNIT PERFORMANCE

Marketing & Sales

The Marketing & Sales team works with industry partners to develop and deliver cost effective consumer and trade marketing programs. Tourism British Columbia’s programs are designed to satisfy the various consumer interests and purchasing behaviour exhibited in core North American and overseas markets. In building these diverse activities, the overriding goal is to build tangible business results for the tourism industry throughout the province.

In North American markets, Tourism British Columbia again validated the need to develop well targeted, integrated, direct response campaigns to reach high potential travellers. The spring 2003 BC Escapes[®] campaign enabled industry to partner with Tourism British Columbia to reach qualified travellers in Canada and the US. While core markets in California and Ontario were maintained, increased emphasis was put on the nearby markets of Washington, Oregon, and Alberta as well as locally in British Columbia. The spring 2003 BC Escapes[®] campaign was launched in late February 2003 with a 23% budget reduction, reflecting the reduction in CTC-partnered funding. Early results indicate that the campaign is delivering to expectations. This demonstrates the sound model of the program, which delivered $70.3 million in tourism revenue in 2002, generating a 12:1 return on investment.

The Tourism Partners program, which is delivered in partnership with British Columbia's six tourism regions, saw over 1,000 tourism businesses cost effectively reach high potential consumers from short-haul markets. Over 250 distinct advertising campaigns were executed and 1.5 million regional vacation planners and product sector guides were put in the hands of interested consumers.

The North America Travel Media Relations unit continues to nurture ongoing relationships with key media, and identify and build new associations with strategic media outlets delivering high audience impressions. After September 11, 2001, Tourism British Columbia saw increased interest from US and Canadian travel editors in British Columbia as a travel destination. Over the course of the past year, this interest has continued to grow, resulting in increased coverage throughout key markets.

In 2002/03, North America Travel Media Relations worked with more than 1,990 media, provided support for 229 press trips and represented British Columbia at 13 media events/marketplaces in Canada and the US. The result was $93.0 million in unpaid media coverage in the North American market. In addition, Tourism British Columbia hosted 65 overseas media visits achieving $110.6 million of unpaid media. Of this, $102.7 million can be credited to Japan and the extraordinary value of just three Japanese television shows.

Performance from overseas markets varied in the wake of continuing impacts of September 11, 2001. In the Asia/Pacific region, Japan took the longest time to recover but ended the calendar year by surpassing 2001 visitation. A strong recovery campaign involving key tour operators and the CTC included a video-taped message from the Premier of British Columbia. This assisted in assuring Japanese visitors that Canada remained a safe location to visit. By late winter 2003 however, the threat of war in Iraq and other factors began to negatively effect visitation from Japan. In spite of a very successful fall consumer campaign, Taiwanese visitation continued to decline due to their ongoing economic challenges and the departure of Air Canada from the market. Our third key Asia/Pacific market and perhaps the most resilient one, Australia, also experienced a decline in visitation. This was primarily due to a lack of air capacity following the demise of Canada 3000, although the shock of the terrorist attacks in Bali had an impact. Performance from secondary markets was mixed with declines from Hong Kong but significant increases from South Korea and China.

In Europe, the United Kingdom remained a strong and confident travel market. While visitation declined slightly, it was primarily due to a lack of air capacity. Canadian Affair, a motivated tour operator, stepped into the void left by Canada 3000, ultimately replacing about one third of air capacity. An effective consumer co-op campaign between Tourism British Columbia and Canadian Affair resulted in the near sellout of these charters flights between the UK and British Columbia and the decision to significantly increase capacity in 2003. In the United Kingdom and Germany, our partnership with the CTC was maintained in their winter consumer advertising program designed to motivate spring and summer 2003 travel. This multi-media campaign produced a total of 62,710 inquiries about travel to Canada and British Columbia which is an increase of 37.2% over the previous year.

The Canada's West Marketplace[®] show set a record in 2002 not only with the number of delegates but with buyer and seller satisfaction. 141 buyer delegates representing 112 organizations, 202 British Columbia seller delegates representing 141 organizations and 16 media delegates participated. Of these, 100% of the buyers and 94% of the sellers rated the event as "good" or "very good".

Tourism British Columbia representatives continued to develop strong relationships with the travel trade and travel media in all our markets. To assist key tour operators in reaching their target audience and building business, Tourism British Columbia invested in 84 trade promotional programs. In addition, 58 training seminars were conducted to educate travel trade sales and reservation staff.

Throughout the past year, significant effort has been placed in developing an information technology strategy that will better enable Tourism British Columbia's business processes to make it easier for consumers to access British Columbia tourism products and services, and to provide the British Columbia tourism industry greater access to worldwide consumers. Following extensive work by an internal cross-division work group, a Request for Proposal was issued by the Purchasing Commission on behalf of Tourism British Columbia on March 14, 2003, targeting the acquisition of an appropriate technology solution.

In the face of major challenges and the resulting increase in competitive activity, effective partnership efforts have never been more essential. Tourism British Columbia was able to further increase a direct marketing investment of $8 million to approximately $25 million through partnerships with industry and other tourism organizations. This level of investment allowed Tourism British Columbia and our industry partners to achieve a greater level of market impact and to better compete with other jurisdictions.

Tourism Operations

Tourism Operations works directly with visitors and industry to provide information fulfillment and product sales and to promote increased travel. This includes a commitment to quality assurance through the enhancement of standards for facilities, services and amenities, and a similar commitment to long-term professional development programs for the tourism workforce.

Despite negative market conditions and decreasing call volume this year, the Super, Natural British Columbia[®] Call Centre reduced call length while at the same time increasing average bookings. This resulted in the centre exceeding its revenue target of $780,000 by $11,000. The HelloBC[®].com website continued to gain momentum and exceeded targets in all areas.

110 Visitor Info Centres throughout the province continued to develop programs and services resulting in a quality one-stop experience for the visitors. 3.12 million visitors were served at Visitor Info Centres throughout British Columbia in 2002.

[®] Registered Trademark of Tourism British Columbia

One highlight achievement for Tourism Operations in 2003 was the completion of the five-year Tourism Human Resources Development Plan for the tourism industry. This has resulted in the creation of a new coordinating agency for human resource development called go2 - the resource for people in tourism. go2 will be implementing a number of initiatives to ensure a well-trained and professional workforce to support increased growth for tourism and to prepare for the 2010 Olympic and Paralympic Games.

Business Development

The Business Development Division identifies, researches and implements programs for the corporation that help maximize the overall efficiency of the organization and industry. Included in this division are Corporate Communications, Industry Development, and British Columbia Magazine.

The division works closely with all areas of the corporation and with industry stakeholders, providing a valuable connection as many new and existing tourism opportunities evolve.

A highlight of 2002/03 was the operational performance of British Columbia Magazine. The magazine managed to achieve profit targets through efficient management, which will provide a strong foundation for efforts to reach circulation targets in the future.

Industry Development published a total of seven Tourism Business Essential Guides, including new publications such as Starting a New Tourism Business and Travel Media Relations, which were developed as a result of stakeholder feedback. The guides are now available in CD format, making them more convenient for tourism business operators.

2002/03 was the last year of Tourism British Columbia's agreement with the Vancouver 2010 Bid Corporation to sponsor WorldHost. Twenty communities throughout British Columbia received support from this program for both bidding and hosting international events.

Through a partnership with the Ministry of Sustainable Resource Management, the third of four phases of the Rails-to-Trails provincial strategy was completed. The final stage is to conduct a pilot project in one British Columbia community which will be undertaken in the next fiscal year.

The most significant topic facing Corporate Communications was the stability and health of the tourism industry itself, following the impacts of the September 11, 2001. Though overall results for the year demonstrated that recovery for the British Columbia industry was well under way, several issues such as Cryptococcus disease on Vancouver Island, outbreaks of the Norwalk virus on cruise ships and economic woes throughout the world increased the demand of stakeholders and media for up-to-date information. The corporate website www.tourism.bc.ca proved to be an invaluable tool in conveying the appropriate information. In addition, Corporate Communications issued 34 press releases on behalf of the organization.

Corporate Services

Tourism British Columbia is strongly committed to disciplined management practices and accountability. Through the development and implementation of efficient financial, administrative and information systems, Corporate Services continues to help contribute to the positive performance of the organization.

Over the past year, Corporate Services continued to instill sound financial management processes throughout the corporation, ensuring the integrity of the financial data. Evidence of this comes from the unqualified auditor's opinion and management letter.

Human Resource Development

The Human Resource Development division had a very successful year in leading the organization in achieving high performance. The corporation participated in Watson Wyatt's Survey for the Best Companies to Work for in British Columbia and was named number 12 in the January 2003 issue of BC Business Magazine. With 100% of employees surveyed agreeing they have confidence in the job being done by senior management of the organization, Tourism British Columbia continues to confirm our position as a highly effective organization.

The organization's Corporate Values continue to provide a strong base for engaging Tourism British Columbia's staff in productive and satisfying work, relevant to our clients and stakeholders.

The Human Resource Development division enables the corporation to achieve outstanding business results through a variety of programs and initiatives.

REPORT ON PERFORMANCE

Starting with the 2003/04 Tourism British Columbia Service Plan, the corporation switched from publishing objectives and measures by Business Unit to a format that linked goals, objectives, strategies, targets and performance measures directly to the Tourism British Columbia mandate.

Consequently, some performance measures have been realigned or restated for comparative purposes, and may vary from the 2002/03 Service Plan which followed a Business Unit format.

In addition, it is important to note for reference that the results published within this Annual Report cover the fiscal year April 1, 2002 – March 31, 2003, and will not reflect impacts of the War in Iraq, which began mid-March 2003 and SARS, which saw the first public advisory for Canada on March 28, 2003.

FINANCIAL REPORT

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

Operating Highlights

As the corporation's primary source of funding, Tourism British Columbia receives 1.65 points of the 8% hotel tax. Hotel tax revenue returned to positive growth increasing by 3.3% to $24.5 million (compared to a decrease of 1.3% in the previous year). A 1% change in hotel tax impacts the corporation by approximately $240,000.

Tourism British Columbia operates under a five-year fiscal framework. Similar to previous years, budgeted expenses exceeded budgeted revenues. It is the corporation's intent to budget a consistent "spend" level, drawing down equity (unappropriated assets) until hotel tax revenues "catch up" to spend levels. Under the direction of our Board, Tourism British Columbia maintains a minimum of $1 million in unappropriated assets over a five-year horizon, to protect the corporation in the event hotel tax receipts are considerably less than expected. The corporation's revenues exceeded expenses in 2002/03 by $190,000 compared to a budgeted deficit of $4.0 million. However, $2.4 million of unspent budget was attributable to projects carried over into fiscal 2003/04. The 03/04 budget has been adjusted accordingly.

The corporation earned $214,000 in investment income, compared to $164,000 last year. Improved cash management practices and delayed or deferred projects contributed to higher average cash balances. Further, the corporation's average rate of return of 2.81% (3.09% in 01/02) exceeded British Columbia Investment Management Corporation's ST1 short term money market fund benchmark.

Most program revenues saw a general decline, particularly in reservation commissions, training, and the Approved Accommodation Guide. However, overall program revenues were up over last year by 2.6% due to British Columbia Magazine's (formerly Beautiful British Columbia Magazine) increase in revenues of almost $400,000, or 23%.

Balance Sheet

Consistent with previous years, our year-end cash position was greater than our unappropriated assets. However, this is not the case throughout most of the fiscal year. On average, Tourism British Columbia's cash balance tends to be lower, as our hotel tax receivable from the Ministry of Provincial Revenue is typically greater than our average payables by about $1 million. Payables at year-end are larger than normal due to the timing of the BC Escapes[®] advertising program, which overlaps our fiscal year-end. Consequently, cash flows are negative in the first quarter by between $3 and $4 million.

Accounts Receivable – the $2.3 million (01/02: $3.7 million) receivable from the Province of British Columbia is for hotel tax revenues earned but not yet received. The receivable was smaller this year due to the timing of receipts from Ministry of Provincial Revenue; the March cash payment was received in March this year, but April in previous year. It generally takes 6 to 10 weeks for Tourism British Columbia to receive payment.

Net capital assets shrank 25% due to delayed capital expenditures to next fiscal.

Deferred revenues represent cash received from subscribers to British Columbia Magazine in advance of receiving the magazine.

The corporation's long term liabilities decreased a further 3% (25% decline last year) due to a continued effort to reduce accrued leave banks by ensuring our employees take a minimum amount of vacation in a year.

Business Risk

Given Tourism British Columbia's primary funding source is hotel tax, the corporation is subject to the risk of any significant downturn. As an example, the 2003/04 Tourism British Columbia Service Plan prepared in January 2003 projected a 4% increase in hotel tax. However, world events have subsequently had a negative impact on the tourism industry. Although the corporation is mildly optimistic that economic conditions will recover, the hotel tax forecast for fiscal 2004 may need to be revised for less growth.

Management's Report

The financial statements of Tourism British Columbia for the year ended March 31, 2003 have been prepared by management in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles. These financial statements present fairly the consolidated financial position of Tourism British Columbia as at March 31, 2003 and the consolidated results of operations and changes in cash flows for the year then ended.

Management is responsible for the preparation of the financial statements and has established a system of internal control to provide reasonable assurance that assets are safeguarded, transactions are properly authorized, and financial records provide reliable information for the preparation of financial statements.

The Board of Directors carries out its responsibility for the review of the financial statements. The Board meets with management and the external auditor to discuss the results of audit examinations and financial reporting matters. The external auditor has full access to the Board, with and without the presence of management.

The Auditor General of British Columbia has performed an independent audit of the financial statements of Tourism British Columbia. The Auditor's report outlines the scope of his examination and expresses an opinion on the statements of Tourism British Columbia.

Report of the Auditor General of British Columbia

To the Members of the Board of Directors of Tourism British Columbia, and

To the Minister of Competition, Science and Enterprise, Province of British Columbia:

I have audited the consolidated statement of financial position of Tourism British Columbia as at March 31, 2003 and the consolidated statements of operations and net assets and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Corporation's management. My responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on my audit.

I conducted my audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that I plan and perform an audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation.

In my opinion, these financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position of Tourism British Columbia as at March 31, 2003 and the results of its consolidated operations and its consolidated cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles.

TOURISM BRITISH COLUMBIA
NOTES TO THE CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
March 31, 2003

(Tabular amounts in $000s)

1. Authority and purpose

Tourism British Columbia (the corporation) is a provincial Crown corporation established by the Tourism British Columbia Act on June 27, 1997. The purpose of the corporation is to promote development and growth in the tourism industry, to increase revenue and employment in the industry throughout British Columbia and to increase the economic benefits generated by the industry.

Under the Tourism British Columbia Act, Tourism British Columbia is entitled to the net revenue collected under section 3.1 of the Hotel Room Tax Act.

The corporation is exempt from federal and provincial income taxes and from the federal goods and services tax.

2. Significant accounting policies

These financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles.

(a) Basis of Consolidation

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the corporation and its wholly owned subsidiary 595195 BC Ltd. (British Columbia Magazine). All significant inter-company transactions and balances have been eliminated.

(b) Short term investments

Short term investments consist of units in the Province of British Columbia Pooled Investment Portfolios. Units are carried at the lower of cost adjusted by income attributed to the units, and market value. Income attributed to the units represents the unit holder's share of the interest earned by the Portfolio and may be realized upon the sale of units.

(c) Revenue recognition

Hotel room tax revenue is recognized in the period that consumers are charged the tax on their accommodation by the provincial government.

Program revenues are recognized in the period services are rendered.

Subscription revenues in the British Columbia Magazine operations are deferred and recognized as the magazine is published.

(d) Intangible assets

Intangible assets are reviewed each year to determine if there is any impairment in value. A write down to fair value is recorded if there has been any impairment.

(e) Capital assets

Capital assets are recorded at cost and amortized on a straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives. Estimated useful lives are as follows:

Computer software	2 years
Website development costs	3 years
Computer equipment	3 years
Furniture and equipment	5 years
Vehicles	5 years
Leasehold improvements	5 years
Trademarks	20 years

Assets costing less than $500 are expensed in the year of purchase.

(f) Inventories

Inventories held for resale are valued at the lower of cost and net realizable value. Supplies inventories are valued at cost.

(g) Related parties

Tourism British Columbia is related through common ownership to all Province of British Columbia ministries, agencies and Crown corporations. Transactions with these entities, considered to be in the normal course of operations, are recorded at the exchange amounts.

3. Cash and short term investments

Employee future pension benefits

The corporation and its employees contribute to the Public Service Pension Plan (the Plan), a jointly trustee pension plan. The board of trustees, representing plan members and employers, is responsible for overseeing the management of the pension plan, including investment of the assets and administration of the plan. The pension plan is a multi-employer contributory defined benefit pension plan. Every three years an actual valuation is performed to assess the financial position of the plan and the adequacy of the plan funding. The latest actual valuation March 31, 2002 indicated a $546 million surplus for funding purposes. The actuary does not attribute portions of the surplus to individual employers.

Employee future post-retirement benefits

Obligations for employee retirement allowances are detailed in the corporation's collective agreement. The corporation has accrued the estimated costs of these benefits, and has adopted the policy on a prospective basis with no retroactive restatement of prior year amounts. The amount accrued during the 2003 fiscal year was $89,678 (2002 - $82,261) and is included in long term liabilities.

CORPORATE GOVERNANCE

Corporate Governance Practices

Tourism British Columbia became a Crown corporation when the Tourism British Columbia Act was passed by the British Columbia legislature in June 1997. The Act was retroactive to April 1, 1997 and established the basis of corporate governance.

Roles and responsibilities of the Board and CEO/Staff

In fulfilling its responsibilities under the Act, at a special meeting of Tourism British Columbia's Board of Directors held on October 6, 1997, the Board determined that it would function as a policy Board, with responsibility for achieving results delegated to the CEO. The Board provides final approval for matters concerning planning, budget, CEO contingency, financial policy, human resource policy and performance measures. They are also involved in approving within the Business Plan items such as capital purchases, leases and major repairs. The full Board meets quarterly and there are seven standing Advisory Committees that also meet a minimum of once a quarter, with the exception of the Membership/Nomination Committee and the Compensation Committee. The remaining committees include the Executive Committee, Corporate Services Committee, Business Development Committee, Marketing & Sales Committee, and the Tourism Operations Committee.

The CEO and staff are entirely responsible for day-to-day operations including the development and implementation of the annual Business Plan, the determination of an annual operating budget and establishment of all staff assignments.
