A New Era of Government Service

Three-year service plans represent an important part of the government's commitment to open and accountable government. In August 2001, the government amended the Budget Transparency and Accountability Act to require government to table a three-year Strategic Plan and annual three-year service plans for ministries and government organizations with the provincial budget. These plans will ensure government and its individual ministries clearly outline their goals, and enable British Columbians to hold government accountable for its decisions and actions.

The government's three-year Strategic Plan articulates the government's vision: British Columbia is a prosperous and just province, whose citizens achieve their potential and have confidence in the future. It also establishes three strategic goals that are key to achieving the government's overall vision:

- A strong and vibrant provincial economy
- A supportive social infrastructure
- Safe, healthy communities and a sustainable environment.

This Service Plan details the Office of the Premier's mission and objectives, which support the government's strategic goals. The Service Plan also includes performance measures that will be used to assess the Office of the Premier's progress in achieving those objectives. Objectives and performance measures are a new initiative for ministries and government organizations. In some cases, as planning progresses, performance measures will become more detailed as they are further developed.

After the end of each fiscal year, the Office of the Premier will prepare a Service Plan report that will describe actual accomplishments for the year. The report will include a comparison of planned and actual results, from both a financial and performance measure perspective, and will allow the public to assess the government's performance.

In the years ahead, service plans and service plan reports prepared by government ministries and organizations will become the key tool by which government will manage public resources to ensure government programs are contributing, in a measurable way, to key government priorities in an efficient and effective manner.

The government's three-year Strategic Plan and ministries' three-year service plans will guide the reform of the province's public services so they meet British Columbians' needs. Measures to revitalize economic prosperity and protect and renew public services will lay the groundwork for a future of new opportunity for all British Columbians.

Accountability Statements

The 2002/03 – 2004/05 Office of the Premier Service Plan was prepared under my direction in accordance with the Budget Transparency and Accountability Act. I am accountable for the basis on which the plan has been prepared. The plan was developed in the context of the government's New Era commitments, which are to be addressed by May 17, 2005. All material fiscal assumptions and policy decisions as of January 28, 2002, have been considered in preparing the plan, and I am accountable for achieving the specific objectives in the plan.

Honourable Gordon Campbell
Premier
February 7, 2002

I am the Minister of State for Intergovernmental Relations, and under the Balanced Budget and Ministerial Accountability Act, I am accountable for achieving the following results for 2002/03:

- Develop an action plan for British Columbia's intergovernmental priorities and have it approved by Cabinet.
- Develop a strategy to eliminate overlaps in jurisdiction and process between the British Columbia Government and the Government of Canada.
- Develop a program of cooperation with neighbouring States and have it approved by Cabinet.

Office of the Premier

A Message from the Premier

I am pleased to present the Service Plan for the Office of the Premier for the fiscal years from 2002/2003 to 2004/2005.

The next three years will present both challenges and opportunities for government. The global economic recession requires strong fiscal management, but as economic growth returns — as it inevitably will — the opportunities for a resource-rich and skills-rich British Columbia will abound. Government will maintain key services while maintaining fiscal sustainability. We will position British Columbia through strategic shifts in the role and management of government to take full advantage of those opportunities. The Office of the Premier will lead and support the ministries in this work, consistent with this Service Plan.

Introduction

The Premier serves as the President of the Executive Council (Cabinet) of the Government of British Columbia. As head of the government and Cabinet, the Premier provides leadership to and cohesion among ministers, ministries and agencies of government. The Office of the Premier provides advice and support to the Premier, Cabinet and Caucus to facilitate smooth and effective operations of the Government of British Columbia. The office works closely with all ministries and major agencies to support their work and to ensure policy coordination across government. The Office of the Premier provides leadership to the public service.

The Premier, with the support of the office, is responsible for ensuring the New Era platform is implemented in a timely, open and accountable fashion.

Government's New Era Vision

1. A top-notch education system for students of all ages.	6. The fastest growing technology industry in Canada.
2. High-quality public health-care services that meet all patients' needs where they live and when they need it.	7. A leading-edge forest industry that is globally recognized for its productivity and environmental stewardship.
3. A thriving private sector economy that creates high-paying job opportunities.	8. Greater equity and equality for British Columbia in Canada.
4. Safer streets and schools in every community.	9. The most open, accountable and democratic government in Canada.
5. Better services for children, families and First Nations.	10. Responsible, accountable management of your public resources and tax dollars.

Mission

The Premier and the Office of the Premier have a broad responsibility for the achievement of the government's vision. Within that broad responsibility, the Office of the Premier has specific accountability for the restructuring of government, the strategic use of technology, effective and transparent communications, and the development of positive intergovernmental relations.

The mission of the Office of the Premier is:

To ensure the achievement of the New Era vision through leadership across government and Crown agencies in innovative planning, timely decision-making and effective service delivery; supported by leading-edge technology, open and transparent communications, and positive intergovernmental relations.

Values

The Office of the Premier's leadership of government will be founded upon the New Era values of:

Integrity:

To make decisions in a manner that is consistent, professional, fair and balanced.

Fiscal Responsibility:

To implement affordable public policies.

Accountability:

To enhance the efficiency, effectiveness and credibility of government.

Respect:

To treat all citizens equitably, compassionately and respectfully.

Choice:

To afford British Columbians the opportunity to exercise self-determination.

Principles — The Way We Work

In fulfilling our corporate leadership role, the Office of the Premier will act in accordance with the following principles:

- Results-oriented and client focused;
- Innovative and accountable public management;
- Focus on New Era priorities;
- Collaborative partnerships within the public sector and the broader provincial community;
- Simplification of government regulations and processes; and
- Focus on support and facilitation rather than direct control over the lives of people, businesses and organizations.

Key Challenges and Opportunities

□ Key Challenges

- Focusing government's actions where they will make a real difference for British Columbians.
- Coordinating and leading in a complex and rapidly changing environment.
- Restoring public confidence in government as a responsible and committed steward of their taxes and services.

□ Key Opportunities

- Capitalize on economic and business opportunities that ensure future growth and prosperity as a result of globalization, increased international competition and trade liberalization.

- Meet the demand for improved access to, and efficient delivery of, public services through increased and effective use of technology.
- Address British Columbia's priorities and interests through the development of productive relationships with provincial, federal and international governments.
- Increase investment in British Columbia and kick-start the economy through new partnerships with the private sector.

The Office of the Premier and New Era Objectives

The Service Plan for the Office of the Premier draws on the New Era vision, values and principles. The office has been structured to meet key challenges and take advantage of opportunities to support the achievement of the New Era vision. The Service Plan assigns responsibilities within the structure to achieve this objective.

Chief of Staff:

This office provides a range of executive services for the Premier and manages key relationships on behalf of the Premier both within and outside government. It provides strategic advice, communications, media relations and issues management support directly to the Premier. This office manages the administrative functions that support the Premier, which include correspondence and scheduling. The office also provides liaison and outreach internally with Caucus and externally with communities and organizations throughout the province.

Deputy Ministers to the Premier:

On behalf of the Premier, the Deputy Ministers provide leadership and coordination across all ministries and agencies of government. They directly lead initiatives that affect all of government, including reviews of all programs and services, leadership of the public service and cross-ministry projects. The Deputy Ministers support and coordinate the development of policies, legislation, and public service reform so that the priorities of government as set by the Premier and Cabinet can be achieved. The Deputy Ministers also lead the restructuring and future planning of government.

New Era objectives are assigned to organizational units as set out below.

Chief Information Office:

The Chief Information Office has overall government responsibility for strategic direction and governance of information management and information technology. This office also promotes e-commerce and enables the electronic delivery of government services. These responsibilities relate to the following New Era objectives:

- To give all citizens and businesses better online access to core services.
- To work with communications companies, Internet service providers and local communities to bring high-speed Internet access to all communities in British Columbia, using public assets like roads, railways and power lines to leverage rapid growth in communications infrastructure and broadband Internet capabilities.
- To make British Columbia a leader in electronic government, to facilitate public participation throughout the legislative process, improve efficiency and improve access to services over the Internet.
- To expand the preparation of government data and information in digital formats to increase access to information and help reduce the cost of paper flow and bureaucratic bottlenecks.

Premier's Technology Council

Established as part of the New Era commitment, the Premier's Technology Council advises the Premier on key technology issues. The council is examining ways to:

- Remove barriers that keep many British Columbians from participating in the knowledge-based economy and from accessing the educational, social and cultural benefits delivered through broadband networks.
- Identify areas where technology can make government more efficient and improve the delivery of government services, including education and health care, throughout the province.
- Ensure the growth and development of a vibrant, globally competitive technology industry in British Columbia.

The Premier's Technology Council has a direct role in meeting the following New Era objectives:

- Help bridge the "digital divide."
- Support the fastest growing technology industry in Canada.
- Work with the technology industry to capitalize on the tremendous potential for growth and job creation in exciting new sectors like bio-technology, forestry technology, software development, multi-media, electronics and telecommunications.

British Columbia Progress Board:

The British Columbia Progress Board is a fully independent board comprising business experts. It has been established as part of the New Era commitment to help fuel economic growth by setting performance benchmarks for the provincial economy. The board will provide a new level of accountability by establishing specific economic goals for tax, regulatory and fiscal reforms. The British Columbia Progress Board has two main objectives:

- To advise the province on its goal of improving British Columbia's competitive position by establishing an ongoing means to measure and benchmark British Columbia's economic progress over time and relative to other jurisdictions.
- To identify issues important to the future economic prosperity of British Columbia and to advise the Premier on strategies, policies and actions necessary to improve the performance of the provincial economy and its social policy supports.

The British Columbia Progress Board will determine specific measures and relevant jurisdictions for comparison, with input from other experts and the public. The board will report to the Premier twice a year.

The board has links to the following New Era objectives:

- Responsible, accountable management of public resources and tax dollars.
- A thriving private-sector economy, a leading-edge forest industry and the fastest growing technology industry.
- Transparent and accountable government.
- Performance measures and targets.

Intergovernmental Relations Secretariat:

In recognition of the key role of the Premier in intergovernmental relations, this function has been placed in the Office of the Premier. The Minister of State for Intergovernmental Relations works with all ministries and agencies in government to ensure that relations with the federal and other provincial governments advance British Columbia's interests. It also leads the development and delivery of strategies with international governments to advance British Columbia's priorities. The secretariat also provides management and support services for government in intergovernmental protocol and the management of intergovernmental meetings and events.

Intergovernmental Relations is responsible for the following New Era commitments:

- Invite all members of the British Columbia Legislature and British Columbia members of Parliament to hold annual joint conferences aimed at publicly identifying and overcoming issues of regional alienation within Canada and British Columbia.
- Push Ottawa for provincial control over British Columbia offshore fisheries, to improve fisheries management and protect jobs.
- Fight for British Columbia's fair share of federal tax dollars through a fairer equalization program and more equitable distribution of federal government contract expenditures.
- Push to eliminate interprovincial trade barriers that are hurting consumers, job creation and British Columbia businesses.
- Work to minimize interjurisdictional overlaps that are adding confusion and costs to health-care delivery.

Crown Agencies Secretariat and Board Resourcing and Development:

These roles are key to the restructuring of government managed through the Office of the Premier and have accordingly been placed under the Deputy Minister, Corporate Planning and Restructuring. This meets the New Era responsibilities outlined below through reviewing Crown agency mandates and ensuring the appointment of fully qualified Crown agency boards, overseeing governance and setting administrative standards for all agencies:

- Ensure that Crown corporations are subject to local zoning and land-use bylaws.

- Ensure that appointees to boards are representative of their communities' needs and accountable for their performance in meeting standards.
- Ensure responsible, accountable management of British Columbia's public resources and tax dollars.

Cabinet Operations

Cabinet Operations provides a high level of administrative support and services for Cabinet decision-making processes and facilitates the effective operation of Cabinet and all Cabinet and Caucus committee systems. Cabinet Operations is also managing the transition from secrecy to transparency and openness.

Cabinet Operations is responsible for the following New Era commitments:

- Ensure that major capital spending decisions and land-use decisions involving the Agricultural Land Reserve, new parks, land claims and tenure reform are decided by Cabinet in public.
- Hold open Cabinet meetings at least once a month.

Public Affairs Bureau

The Public Affairs Bureau ensures that information about government programs and services is accessible to British Columbians. The department leads and coordinates communications with internal and external stakeholders to meet the New Era commitment of the most open, transparent and accountable government in Canada.

GOAL: To accomplish the New Era agenda in an open and accountable way.

Goal 1:

To make British Columbia a leader in electronic government, to facilitate public participation throughout the legislative process, achieve more effective delivery of services at a lower cost and improve access to services over the Internet.

Objectives:

- 1.1 Give all citizens and businesses better online access to core services.
- 1.2 Increase access to information and help reduce the cost of paper flow and bureaucratic bottlenecks.
- 1.3 Support the fastest growing technology industry in Canada.
- 1.4 Ensure British Columbia's citizens and businesses have the capability and confidence to do business electronically.

Strategies:

- 1.1 Make any government service that can be delivered electronically available over the Internet.
- 1.2 Work with the technology industry to capitalize on the tremendous potential for growth and job creation in exciting new sectors like bio-technology, forestry technology, software development, multi-media, electronics and telecommunications.
- 1.3 Work with communications companies, Internet service providers and local communities to bring high-speed Internet access to all communities in British Columbia, using public assets like roads, railways and power lines to leverage rapid growth in communications infrastructure and broadband Internet capabilities.
